

Dr. Josephine Beoku-Betts

Center for Women's, Gender and Sexuality Studies | Florida Atlantic University

WEST VIRGINIA STATE UNIVERSITY

Thursday, October 15

Campus Lecture

12:30 – 1:45 p.m.
Erickson Alumni Center

Women's Peace Movement in West Africa since 1990s: A Focus on Sierra Leone

All faculty, students and staff are invited to attend

Public Lecture

Light refreshments will be provided

6:30 – 8:30 p.m. at Erickson Alumni Center

Holding African States to Task on Gender and Violence: Implementing United Nations Security Council Resolution 1325 in Sierra Leone

All faculty, students, staff and local community are invited to attend

Josephine Beoku-Betts, Ph.D., is Professor of Women, Gender and Sexuality Studies and Sociology at Florida Atlantic University. She is also a former Director of the Center. She has served as co-regional editor for Women's Studies International Forum, co-Book Review Editor for Gender & Society, and Editorial Board member for Gender & Society and African and Asian Studies. She has published in Gender & Society, National Women's Studies Association Journal, Ghana Studies, Meridians, JENdA: a Journal of Culture and African Women's Studies, Journal of Asian and African Studies, Africa Today, Journal of Technology Transfer, and Journal of Women and Minorities in Science and Engineering.

